

NO. 4, MARCH 20, 1925.

TORREY, HARRY BEAL, RIDDLE, MATTHEW C., and BRODIE, J. L. Thyroxin as a depressant of the division rate of Paramecium .	449
LUND, E. J., and LOGAN, G. A. The relation of the stability of protoplasmic films in Noctiluca to the duration and intensity of an applied electric potential. Plate 3.	461
LILLIE, RALPH S. Factors affecting transmission and recovery in the passive iron nerve model.	473
LIPMAN, C. B., and TEAKLE, L. J. H. Symbiosis between Chlorella sp. and Azotobacter chroococcum and nitrogen fixa- tion.	509
WEBSTER, LESLIE T. The acid agglutination of mixtures of oppositely charged bacterial cells.	513
SAEGER, ALBERT. The growth of duckweeds in mineral nutrient solutions with and without organic extracts.	517
FINK, DAVID E. Metabolism during embryonic and meta- morphic development of insects. Plate 4.	527
WYMAN, JEFFRIES, JR. Neuroid transmission in ciliated epithelium.	545
OSTERHOUT, W. J. V. On the importance of maintaining certain differences between cell sap and external medium.	561
CROZIER, W. J., and FEDERIGHI, H. Temperature characteristic for heart rhythm of the silkworm.	565

	PAGE
CROZIER, W. J., and STIER, T. B. The temperature characteristic for pharyngeal breathing rhythm of the frog.....	571